Ungendering Technology Carol J. Haddad, 2019-07-10 This book offers fresh insight into women's mastery of technologies commonly associated with men with important implications for institutional efforts to identify and support technical proficiency among girls and women The work is structured across five original case studies featuring breast cancer survivors in Newfoundland who constructed a wooden dragon boat using hand and power tools Egyptian women who used information and communication technologies for political action during the Revolution of 2011 pioneer female audio engineers in the United States working in live concert and studio venues U S female commercial airline pilots who mastered the complexity of flying large aircraft and a university educated woman working in sewer maintenance and repair for the City of Detroit in the 1970s The case studies capture women s own voices and present a range of historical and geographic locations A major contribution of this volume is the multidisciplinary analytical framework used to explain women s motivation to engage with non traditional technologies the role of peer and political support in encouraging persistence and informal as well as formal knowledge and skill acquisition Above all it is a story of women s empowerment individually and collectively This is a unique book suitable for undergraduates and graduates in the fields of Women s and Gender Studies Science Technology and Society STS Studies Engineering Education and Adult Education A Companion to Popular Culture Gary Burns,2016-03-09 A Companion to Popular Culture is a landmark survey of contemporary research in popular culture studies that offers a comprehensive and engaging introduction to the field Includes over two dozen essays covering the spectrum of popular culture studies from food to folklore and from TV to technology Features contributions from established and up and coming scholars from a range of disciplines Offers a detailed history of the study of popular culture Balances new perspectives on the politics of culture with in depth analysis of topics at the forefront of popular culture studies

A Companion to American Technology Carroll Pursell,2008-04-30 A Companion to American Technology is a groundbreaking collection of original essays that analyze the hard to define phenomenon of technology in America 22 original essays by expert scholars cover the most important features of American technology including developments in automobiles television and computing Analyzes the ways in which technologies are organized such as in the engineering profession government medicine and agriculture Includes discussions of how technologies interact with race gender class and other organizing structures in American society A World History of Rubber Stephen L. Harp,2015-12-21 A World History of Rubber helps readers understand and gain new insights into the social and cultural contexts of global production and consumption from the nineteenth century to today through the fascinating story of one commodity Divides the coverage into themes of race migration and labor gender on plantations and in factories demand and everyday consumption World Wars and nationalism and resistance and independence Highlights the interrelatedness of our world long before the age of globalization and the global social inequalities that persist today Discusses key concepts of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries including imperialism industrialization racism and inequality through the lens of rubber Provides an engaging and accessible narrative for all levels that is filled with archival research illustrations and maps Refined Tastes Wendy A. Woloson,2003-04-30 A look at sugar in 19th century American culture and how it rose in popularity to gain its place in the nation s diet today American consumers today regard sugar as a mundane and sometimes even troublesome substance linked to hyperactivity in children and other health concerns Yet two hundred years ago American consumers treasured sugar as a rare commodity and consumed it only in small amounts In Refined Tastes Sugar Confectionery and Consumers in Nineteenth Century America Wendy A Woloson demonstrates how the cultural role of sugar changed from being a precious luxury good to a ubiquitous necessity Sugar became a social marker that established and reinforced class and gender differences During the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Woloson explains the social elite saw expensive sugar and sweet confections as symbols of their wealth As refined sugar became more affordable and accessible new confections children s candy ice cream and wedding cakes made their way into American culture acquiring a broad array of social meanings Originally signifying male economic prowess sugar eventually became associated with femininity and women s consumerism Woloson s work offers a vivid account of this social transformation along with the emergence of consumer culture in America Elegantly structured and beautifully written As simply an explanation of how Americans became such avid consumers of sugar this book is superb and can be recommended highly Ken Albala Winterthur Portfolio An enlightening tale about the social identity of sweets how they contain not just chewy centers but rich meanings about gender about the natural world and about consumerism Cindy Ott Enterprise and Society

Cow Talk Michelle K. Berry, 2023-03-16 The image of western ranchers making a stand for their rights against developers the government illegal immigrants may be commonplace today but the political power of the cowboy was a long time in the making In a book steeped in the culture traditions and history of western range ranching Michelle K Berry takes readers into the Cold War world of cattle ranchers in the American West to show how that power with its implications for the lands and resources of the mountain states was built shaped and shored up between 1945 and 1965 After long days working the ranch battling human and nonhuman threats and wrestling with nature ranchers got down to business of another sort which Berry calls cow talk Discussing the best new machinery sharing stories of drought blizzards and bugs talking money and management and strategy these ranchers were building a community specific to their time place and work and creating a language that embodied their culture Cow Talk explores how this language and its iconography evolved and how it came to provide both a context and a vehicle for political power Using ranchers personal papers publications and cattle growers association records the book provides an inside view of how range cattle ranchers in Arizona New Mexico Colorado Wyoming and Montana created a culture and a shared identity that would frame and inform their relationship with their environment and with society at large in an increasingly challenging modernizing world A multifaceted analysis of postwar ranch life labor and culture this innovative work offers unprecedented insight into the cohesive political and cultural power of western ranchers in our day

“All-Electric” Narratives Rachele Dini, 2021-10-07 Winner of the 2023 Emily Toth Award for Best Single Work in Women s Studies All Electric Narratives is the first in depth study of time saving electrical appliances in American literature It examines the literary depiction of refrigerators vacuum cleaners oven ranges washing machines dryers dishwashers toasters blenders standing and hand held mixers and microwave ovens between 1945 when the all electric home came to be associated with the nation s hard won victory and 2020 as contemporary writers consider the enduring material and spiritual effects of these objects in the 21st century The appropriation and subversion of the rhetoric of domestic electrification and time saving comprises a crucial but overlooked element in 20th century literary forms and genres including Beat literature Black American literature second wave feminist fiction science fiction and postmodernist fiction Through close readings of dozens of literary texts alongside print and television ads from this period Dini shows how U S writers have unearthed the paradoxes inherent to claims of appliances capacity to give back time to their user transport them into a technologically progressive future or return them to some pastoral past In so doing she reveals literary appliances role in raising questions about gender norms and sexuality racial exclusion and erasure class anxieties the ramifications of mechanization the perils and possibilities of conformity the limitations of patriotism and the inevitable fallacy of utopian thinking while both shaping and radically disrupting the literary forms in which they operated "Science, Technology, and Utopias " Christine Filippone, 2017-07-05 The rise of proxy wars the Space Race and cybernetics during the Cold War marked science and technology as vital sites of social and political power Women artists historically excluded from these domains responded critically while simultaneously redeploying the products of Technological Society into works that promoted ideals of progress and alternative concepts of human community In this innovative book author Christine Filippone offers the first focused examination of the conceptual use of science and technology by women artists during and just after the women s movement She argues that artists Alice Aycock Agnes Denes Martha Rosler and Carolee Schneemann used science and technology to mount a critique on Cold War American society as they saw it conservative and constricting Motivated by the contemporary American Women s Movement these artists transformed science and technology into new modes of artmaking that transgressed modernist heroic painterly styles and subverted the traditional economic structures of the gallery the museum and the dealer At the same time the artists also embraced these domains of knowledge and practice as expressions of hope for a better future Many found inspiration in the scientific theory of open systems which investigated problems of wholeness dynamic interaction and organization enabling consideration of the porous boundaries between human bodies and their social political and nonhuman environments Filippone also establishes that the theory of open systems not only informed feminist art but also continued to influence women artists practice of reclamation and ecological art through the twenty first century Suburbanizing the Masses Colin Divall, Winstan Bond, 2017-09-29 This title was first published in 2003 Suburbanizing the Masses examines how collective forms of transport have contributed to the spatial and social evolution of towns and cities in various countries since the mid nineteenth century Divided into two sections the volume develops first the classic tradition on transport and the city public transport s impact on urban development The contextualisation of transport is one important factor in the historical debates surrounding urban development As well as analysing the discourse employed by urban political and business elites in favour of public transport these contributions show the degree to which practice often fell short of ideals The second section tackles the professional paradigms of urban transport the circulation of traffic in cities and the technological modes appropriate to its realization In particular these contributions explore the paradigms held by professional planners and managers and the political classes associated with them From a variety of perspectives Suburbanizing the Masses demonstrates the continuing relevance of socio historical inquiry on the relationship between public transport and urban development By differentiating between the many roles of urban transport in the nineteenth century it confirms that public transport was not directly linked to urban growth and instead often had only a limited effect on the wider urban structure Suburbanizing the Masses forces a reassessment of the received historiography that maintains cheap public transport was essential to the spectacular growth of cities in the nineteenth century Electric Sounds Steve J. Wurtzler, 2007 The 1920s and 1930s marked some of the most important developments in the history of the American mass media the film industry's conversion to synchronous sound the rise of radio networks and advertising supported broadcasting the establishment of a federal regulatory framework and the birth of a new acoustic commodity in which consumers accessed stories songs and other products through multiple media formats The innovations of this period not only restructured and consolidated corporate mass media interests while shifting the conventions of media consumption They renegotiated the social functions assigned to mass media forms In this impeccably researched history Steve J Wurtzler grasps the full story of sounds media proving that the ultimate form technology takes is never predetermined but shaped by conflicting visions of technological possibility in economic cultural and political realms

Household Horror Marc Olivier, 2020-02-11 A scholar examines 14 everyday objects featured in horror films and how they manifest their power and speak to society's fears Take a tour of the house where a microwave killed a gremlin a typewriter made Jack a dull boy a sewing machine fashioned Carrie's prom dress and houseplants might kill you while you sleep In Household Horror Marc Olivier highlights the wonder fear and terrifying dimension of objects in horror cinema Inspired by object oriented ontology and the nonhuman turn in philosophy Olivier places objects in film on par with humans arguing for example that a sleeper sofa is as much the star of Sisters as Margot Kidder that The Exorcist is about a possessed bed and that Rosemary's Baby is a conflict between herbal shakes and prenatal vitamins Household Horror reinvigorates horror film criticism by investigating the unfathomable being of objects as seemingly benign as remote radiators refrigerators and dining tables Olivier questions what Hitchcock's Psycho tells us about shower curtains What can we learn from Freddie Krueger's greatest accomplice the mattress Room by room Olivier considers the dark side of fourteen household objects to demonstrate how the objects in these films manifest their own power and connect with specific cultural fears and concerns Provides a lively and highly original contribution to horror studies As a work on cinema it introduces the reader to films that may be less well known to casual fans and scholars more conspicuously it returns to horror staples gleefully reanimating works that one might otherwise assume had been critically done to death Psycho The Exorcist The Shining Allan Cameron University of Auckland Ding Dong! Avon Calling! Katina Manko, 2021 This first history of Avon traces the direct sales company's growth from its earliest days into an international corporation that operates in more than 60 countries and has had more than 4 million female representatives Politics of the Pantry Emily E. LB.

Twarog, 2017-09-15 The history of women's political involvement has focused heavily on electoral politics but throughout the twentieth century women engaged in grassroots activism when they found it increasingly challenging to feed their families and balance their household ledgers Politics of the Pantry examines how working and middle class American housewives used their identity as housewives to protest the high cost of food In doing so housewives' relationships with the state evolved over the course of the century Shifting the focus away from the workplace as a site of protest Emily E LB Twarog looks to the homefront as a starting point for protest in the public sphere With a focus on food consumption rather than production Twarog looks closely at the ways food specifically meat was used by women as a political tool Engaging in domestic politics housewives both challenged and embraced the social and economic order as they sought to craft a unique political voice and build a consumer movement focused on the home The book examines key moments when women used consumer actions to embrace their socially ascribed roles as housewives to demand economic stability for their families and communities These include the Depression era meat boycott of 1935 the consumer coalitions of the New Deal and the wave of consumer protests between 1966 and 1973 Twarog introduces numerous labor and consumer activists and their organizations in both urban and suburban areas Detroit greater Chicago Long Island and Los Angeles
