shadows of grief
may stretch out,
God's light pierces
through,
reminding us that even in our
deepest sorrows,
His love and grace
remain unyielding.

Narratives of Hope and Grief in Higher Education Stephanie Anne Shelton,Nicole Sieben,2020-04-01 This collection weaves together the personal narratives of a group of diverse scholars in academia in order to reflect on the ways that grief and hope matter for those situated within higher education Each chapter explores a unique aspect of grief and loss from experiencing a personal tragedy such as the loss of a loved one to national and international grief such as campus shootings and refugee camp experiences to experiencing racism and microaggressions as a woman of color in academia to the implications of religious differences severing personal ties as an individual navigates research and academic studies Unlike most resources examining grief this collection pushes beyond notions of sorrow as solely individual and instead situates moments of loss and hurt as ones that matter politically academically professionally and personally The editors and their authors offer pathways forward to academics researchers teachers pedagogues and thinkers who grapple with grief in a variety of forms transforming this book into a critical resource of hope to those in the field of education and others who may feel the effects of an otherwise solitary journey of grief to create an awareness of solidarity and support that some may not realize exists within academic circles

Roeger, 2023-03-15 When you speak of hope do you use the world's definition or the biblical meaning Did you know God designed hope to empower our lives On what do you base your hope as a Christian In this second book under the Lost in Translation imprint Deborah Roeger examines scripture in the light of hope In doing so she takes the reader through a meaningful study of all aspects of a Christian's hope. Yet this study is much more than that. As you learn about the truth of biblical hope, you will discover how understanding hope helps you appreciate and apply the teachings of scripture more effectively both in your life and in the life of your church. There are 21 individual word studies looking at key words in scripture that relate to hope and its application along with an appendix explaining how to do word studies. Easy to understand guidance is provided to help avoid common pitfalls and make word studies more effective in your study. This book uses an extensive bibliography and is comprehensively referenced with hundreds of detailed footnotes. The footnotes provide the reader with the opportunity to walk through the steps the author has taken in studying this subject. It's a treasure trove for modern Bereans who want to search the scriptures every day to see whether these things were true. Acts 17:11. This book is well suited for group study but can also be read and studied individually. It is a valuable resource for Christian education classes wanting to dig deeper into the subject of biblical hope as it is presented in God's Word. Jan's Rainbow;

Stories of Hope; How Those We Have Loved and Lost Stay in Touch Lindsay Collier, 2002-06-05. It was just one day after Lindsay Collier's wife of forty years, Jan, lost her battle with ovarian cancer that a beautiful rainbow surrounded their home in upstate New York where family members were gathered to celebrate her life. Since that time there have been many amazing experiences that have provided some very compelling proof that Jan is not very far away. And Lindsay, a former engineer, engineers always need proof; is not one who is prone to fantasy which makes these occurrences all the more believable. He also tells about some other rather amazing experiences that he and his family have had following losses of other loved ones. These stories alone will make a believer out of you. But there is much more. Lindsay also found that as he related these stories to friends and associates, he would often find that they would frequently offer their own stories about how lost loved ones had made contact with them. The stories were amazing and revolved around everything from dragonflies to birds to lights and clocks changing to things appearing out of nowhere. There are more than twenty-five of these included in the book, all of which will leave you feeling very good and a little less lonely for those you have lost. Lindsay made a commitment to learn as much as he could from his loss and to help others to find ways to survive their loss. He has spoken to a number of bereavement groups about how to survive loss and shares these insights in Jan's Rainbow. His suggestions and ideas on dealing with loss come from true experience. Before taking early retirement, Lindsay was the Creative Thinking Guru for Kodak, so his ideas tend to be different. As he says, losing a loved one is a life-changing experience and it requires some very creative thinking to get through it. There are some wonderful and very different tips for dealing with loss included that will ease the journey through the bereavement process. Included are ways to re-frame your thinking, how to use positive humor in your healing, and the use of metaphors to expand your thinking or finding innovative ways to survive and much much more. This book is a must for anyone who has lost a loved one or knows of someone who has. It is the ultimate feel-good book for helping people to deal with losing a loved one. You'll cry, you'll laugh, and you'll be lifted to a new level of hope. A substantial portion of the proceeds of this book will be donated to Gilda's Club of Rochester New York an organization built in memory of Gilda Radner which provides help to women with cancer

Hope and Grief in the Anthropocene Lesley Head, 2016-02-22

The Anthropocene is a volatile and potentially catastrophic age demanding new ways of thinking about relations between humans and the nonhuman world. This book explores how responses to environmental challenges are hampered by a grief for a pristine and certain past rather than considering the scale of the necessary socioeconomic change for a future world. Conceptualisations of human nature relations must recognise both human power and its embeddedness within material relations. Hope is a risky and complex process of possibility that carries painful emotions; it is something to be practised rather than felt. As centralised governmental solutions regarding climate change appear insufficient, intellectual and practical resources can be derived from everyday understandings and practices. Empirical examples from rural and urban contexts and with diverse research participants (indigenous communities, climate scientists, weed managers, suburban householders) help us to consider capacity, vulnerability and hope in new ways.
