The Elgar Companion to Development Studies David Clark, 2006 If handbooks can be inspiring this is it Like a true companion it takes in its stride conversations both big and small Its entries do not just present an international and multidisciplinary mix but true to life they work on several different scales And importantly the book makes its authority evident For it is like an extended website but with all the added advantages of an encyclopaedia that actually tells you about the authors and the sources on which they have drawn The resulting compilation is highly intelligent thoughtful and above all usable Dame Marilyn Strathern University of Cambridge UK The Elgar Companion to Development Studies is a major production in the development studies field authored by a star studded cast of contributors With 136 entries covering a vast range of topics it should quickly establish itself as a leading work of reference We should all feel indebted to David Clark who has successfully brought this substantial publishing project to completion John Toye University of Oxford UK This is a most comprehensive handbook on development studies It brings together a wide varied array of carefully crafted summaries of 136 key topics in development by an international cast of well respected academics and other experts in respective areas of study The handbook is heavily interdisciplinary organically combining economic political historical social cultural institutional ethical and human aspects of development While the wide range of entries might appear as a simple glossary listing or an encyclopedic collection each of the 136 entries offers more depth and discussion than the average handbook Viewed in this light this companion is highly likely to become known as a leading reference work on the topic Highly recommended Ismael Hossein Zadeh Choice The Elgar Companion to Development Studies is an innovative and unique reference book that includes original contributions covering development economics as well as development studies broadly defined This major new Companion brings together an international panel of experts from varying backgrounds who discuss theoretical ethical and practical issues relating to economic social cultural institutional political and human aspects of development in poor countries It also includes a selection of intellectual biographies of leading development thinkers While the Companion is organised along the lines of an encyclopaedia each of its 136 entries provide more depth and discussion than the average reference book Its entries are also extremely diverse they draw on different social science disciplines incorporate various mixes of theoretical and applied work embrace a variety of methodologies and represent different views of the world The Elgar Companion to Development Studies will therefore appeal to students scholars researchers policymakers and practitioners in the field of development as well as the interested layman

Investing in Resilience Asian Development Bank, 2013-01-01 Investing in Resilience Ensuring a Disaster Resistant Future focuses on the steps required to ensure that investment in disaster resilience happens and that it occurs as an integral systematic part of development At risk communities in Asia and the Pacific can apply a wide range of policy capacity and investment instruments and mechanisms to ensure that disaster risk is properly assessed disaster risk is reduced and residual risk is well managed Yet real progress in strengthening resilience has been slow to date and natural hazards continue to cause significant loss of life damage and disruption in the region undermining inclusive sustainable development Investing in Resilience offers an approach and ideas for reflection on how to achieve disaster resilience It does not prescribe specific courses of action but rather establishes a vision of a resilient future It stresses the interconnectedness and complementarity of possible actions to achieve disaster resilience across a wide range of development policies plans legislation sectors and themes The vision shows how resilience can be accomplished through the coordinated action of governments and their development partners in the private sector civil society and the international community The vision encourages investors to identify and prioritize bundles of actions that collectively can realize that vision of resilience breaking away from the current tendency to pursue disparate and fragmented disaster risk management measures that frequently trip and fall at unforeseen hurdles Investing in Resilience aims to move the disaster risk reduction debate beyond rhetoric and to help channel commitments into investment incentives funding and practical action Cost-Benefit

Analysis for Development Asian Development Bank, 2013-01-01 The Asian Development Bank ADB has been continuously undertaking measures to enhance the effectiveness of its operations To improve projects both at the preparation and implementation stages ADB issued the Guidelines for Economic Analysis of Projects in 1997 as a means to enhancing project quality at entry The conduct of proper economic analysis helps ensure the efficient use of development funds and public resources and thereby increase aid effectiveness This practical guide is a supplement to the Guidelines for the Economic Analysis of Projects It provides an overview of recent methodological developments in cost benefit analysis as well as suggested improvements in the economic analysis of projects in selected sectors through case studies These case studies illustrate the application of suggested methodologies taking into account sector specific needs as well as difficulties faced by practitioners in terms of data and time constraints during project processing It also aims to contribute to ADB s capacity building initiatives as this will be the main reference material for conduct of economic analysis

Strengthening the Economic Analysis of Natural Resource Management Projects Keith Ward,2003 A review of a range of natural resources projects prepared during the 1990s by the Asian Development Bank ADB suggests that existing practices of economic analysis tend to capture only some of the impacts that such projects typically have Historically project analysis at ADB and elsewhere has tended to concentrate on identifying a monetized benefit in excess of 12 percent economic internal rate of return EIRR from direct resource use impacts and simply identifying and describing nonquantifiable impacts With the adoption of the ADB Environment Policy and the growing recognition that it is very often the poorest who suffer most from natural resource depletion and degradation a case is made that more analytic rigor in capturing as many as possible of the resource impacts of such projects is desirable This report therefore suggests some specific techniques to strengthen the economic analysis of natural resources projects including improving the application of the benefits transfer method defining the spatial boundaries of project economic analysis establishing an appropriate accounting stance for the project establishing the project s counterfactual i e without project situation and including the health impacts of such projects The use of appropriate discount rates for sensitivity analysis and for investment decision making are discussed and guidance is given on presenting the results of a project analysis and summarizing the poverty reduction impact of natural resource management projects

Practices of Poverty Measurement and Poverty Profile of Nepal Devendra Chhetry,2009-03 Reviews the poverty measuring practices available measures of poverty and economic growth figures of Nepal The poverty rates for FY 1976 77 1984 85 and 1995 96 are found to be not comparable due to change in methodology over time The three poverty rates average 40% Nepal has experienced high economic growth during the 7th 1985 86 to 1989 90 and 8th 1992 93 to 1996 97 Plan periods with no strong evidences of poverty reduction This incompatible result is partially explained by comparing growth of the agricultural sector with the role of the sector in providing employment and income generation at the household level and by comparing social indicators particularly literacy rate with the growth of the nonagricultural sector Tables
