Handbook Of Discourse Analysis Dimensions Of Discourse Volume 2:

Pragmatics of Discourse Klaus P. Schneider, Anne Barron, 2014-06-18 Discourse is language as it occurs in any form or context beyond the speech act. It may be written or spoken, monological or dialogical, but there is always a communicative aim or purpose. The present volume provides systematic orientation in the vast field of studying discourse from a pragmatic perspective. It first gives an overview of a range of approaches developed for the analysis of discourse, including among others conversation analysis, systemic functional analysis, genre analysis, critical discourse analysis, corpus-driven approaches, and multimodal analysis. The focus is furthermore on functional units in discourse, such as discourse markers, moves, speech act sequences, discourse phases, and silence. The final section of the volume examines discourse types and domains, providing a taxonomy of discourse types and focusing on a range of discourse domains, e.g. classroom discourse, medical discourse, legal discourse, electronic discourse. Each article surveys the current state of the art of the respective topic area while also presenting new research findings.

Framing the Threat Imke Köhler, 2019-03-04 There is great power in the use of words; words create most of what we consider to be real and true. Framing our words and narratives is thus a tool of power, but a power that also comes with limitations. This intriguing issue is the topic of Framing the Threat, an investigation of the relationship between language and security and of how discourse creates the scope of possibility for political action. In particular, the book scrutinizes and compares the security narratives of the former US presidents George W. Bush and Barack Obama. It shows how their framings of identity, i.e. of the American self and the enemy, other-facilitated a certain construction of threat that shaped the presidents' detention and interrogation policies. By defining what was necessary in the name of national security, Bush's narrative justified the operation of the detention center at Guantanamo Bay and rendered the mistreatment of detainees possible, a situation that would have otherwise been illegal. Bush's framings therefore enabled legal limits to be pushed and made the violation of rules appear legitimate. Obama, in contrast, constructed a threat scenario that required an end to rule violations and the closure of Guantanamo for security reasons. According to this narrative, a return to the rule of law was imperative if the American people were to be kept safe. However, Obama's framing was continually challenged, and it was never able to dominate public discourse. Consequently, Framing the Threat argues that Obama was unable to implement the policy changes he had announced.

Psycholinguistics Joseph F. Kess, 1992-01-01 This textbook is designed to serve as an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of psycholinguistics. It is directed at filling the reading needs of courses in departments of linguistics and of psychology, presenting an integrated overview of the ways in which both disciplines have investigated the learning, production, comprehension, storage, and recall of natural languages. Also detailed are those research topics that have captured the interests of psycholinguists over the past few decades. Some current topics included are modularity vs. interactionism, the role of parsing strategies in sentence comprehension, and accessing the mental lexicon in word recognition. Earlier topics that have attracted considerable energy not so long ago, such as sound symbolism, and linguistic relativity are also investigated in some detail Psycholinguistics is an enquiry into the psychology of language but the facts of language are what generate theories about why language is learned produced and processed the way it is Thus there is a wide array of examples from the languages of the world intended to provide a feeling for what the nature and range of human language are like On Grammar M.A.K. Halliday,2005-10-01 For nearly half a century Professor M A K Halliday has been enriching the discipline of linguistics with his keen insights into the social semiotic phenomenon we call language This ten volume series presents the seminal works of Professor Halliday This first volume contains seventeen papers including a new chapter entitled A Personal Perspective in which Halliday offers his own current perspective on language and linguistic theory The first part of the book presents early papers 1957-66 on basic concepts such as system structure class and rank The second part highlights how over the span of two decades the 1960s to mid 1980s Halliday developed systemic theory to account for linguistic phenomena extending upward through the ranks from word to clause to text The last part Construing and Abstracting includes more recent work in which Halliday discusses the issues confronting those who study linguistics using Firth's description of linguistics language turned back on itself Media Discourses

Donald Matheson,2005-09-16 Some of the most important questions regarding the relationship between media and culture are about communication How are the meanings which make up a culture shared in society How is power performed in the media What identities and relationships take shape there Media Discourses introduces readers to discourse analysis to show how media communication works Written in a lively style and drawing on examples from contemporary media it discusses what precisely gets represented in mediatexts who gets to do the talking what knowledge people need to share in order to understand the media and how power relations are reinforced or challenged Each chapter discusses a particular media genre including news advertising reality television and weblogs At the same time each chapter also introduces a range of approaches to media discourse from analysis of linguistic details to the rules of conversation and the discursive construction of selfhood A glossary explains key terms and suggestions for further reading are given at the end of each chapter This is a key text for media studies mass communication studies linguistics and journalism studies students The Construct of Language Proficiency Ludo Verhoeven,John H.A.L. de Jong,1992-10-29 This book aims to open up new perspectives in the study of language proficiency by bringing together current research from different fields in psychology and linguistics All contributions start out from empirical studies which are then related to applications in language assessment The book also serves as a survey of recent developments in psycholinguistic research in the Netherlands The book starts out with a thorough introduction of international literature on models of language proficiency language development and its assessment Section 1 deals with first language proficiency and addresses such problems as grammar in early child language grammatical proficiency and its variance across a range of ages reading abilities and writing skills Section 2 focuses on multilingual proficiency and deals with test bias in relation to the background of the second language learner bilingual proficiency in ethnic minority children the development of the second language learner lexicon communicative competence of school age children in the context of second language learning the assessment of foreign language attrition and the dimensionality in oral foreign language proficiency News Coverage of Violence against Women Marian Meyers,1996-09-18 Marian Meyers explores evidence that shows that news coverage in North American cities routinely depicts criminal violence against females differently from the way it depicts violence against males She argues that this serves to perpetuate traditional inegalitarian gender stereotyping Using original research and qualitative textual analysis the author discloses the underlying ideology myths and assumptions within news coverage and points out the ways in which news broadcasting affects how we view the world and our lives Meyers advocates a re examination of crime news from a feminist perspective and a broadening of traditional understandings of the social construction of news to include issues of gender race and class Listenership Behaviours in Intercultural Encounters Keiko Tsuchiya,2013-11-15 How do people listen in a conversation especially in an intercultural setting and how do they shift from listener to speaker in the particular context This book investigates listenership behaviours of a tutor and a student in the context of academic supervision sessions at a university in the UK comparing British tutor British student conversations with British tutor Japanese student conversations in English A new research methodology a time aligned multimodal corpus analysis is introduced for analysing listenership and turn taking structure synthesising visual data with verbal data in timeline The method also integrates discourse pragmatic and conversation analytic approaches with the corpus based analysis This work reports strategies in use of response tokens for framework shifts and multi functional nature of hand gestures observed in the conversations Therefore this book is highly relevant for researchers and postgraduate students who study pragmatic and discursive practice in intercultural settings using multimodal corpora Animosity, the Bible, and Us Society of Biblical Literature. International Meeting,European Association of Biblical Studies,2009 Contrastive Sociolinguistics Marlis Hellinger,Ulrich Ammon,2011-09-08 CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SOCIOLOGY OF LANGUAGE brings to students researchers and practitioners in all of the social and language related sciences carefully selected book length publications dealing with sociolinguistic theory methods findings and applications It approaches the study of language in society in its broadest sense as a truly international and interdisciplinary field in which various approaches theoretical and empirical supplement and complement each other The series invites the attention of linguists language teachers of all interests sociologists political scientists anthropologists historians etc to the development of the sociology of language Introducing M.A.K. Halliday Bo Wang,Yuanyi Ma,2022-05-05 M A K Halliday 1925 2018 was the founder of Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL and undoubtedly one of the most influential linguists of his time credited with changing the way that language and linguistics have been taught SFL as an applicable theory that approaches language as social semiotic is the study of the relationship between language and its functions in social settings Moreover SFL conceives of language as a resource for making meaning and organizes language systemically as a huge network of interrelated choices of meaning This book is an introduction to the life and seminal works of Halliday Targeting both SFL and non SFL scholars this book introduces Halliday s life and work in simple terms expounds his theoretical conceptions illustrates how his theories have been applied to various areas of linguistics and offers additional readings for researchers who want to explore this area further Divided into six sections covering Hallidayan connections theory and architecture of language Hallidayan conceptions of language systems and the modes of meaning and applications of SFL this accessible introduction is a key resource for researchers and students within the fields of linguistics and applied linguistics

New Research on Cohesion and Coherence in Linguistics Zhang Delu,Liu Rushan,2021-09-15 The study of text cohesion and coherence has been a topic of heated discussion in Linguistics since the 1990s Western linguists have developed two major theoretical frameworks to describe the relationship between the two concepts one posits that cohesive devices are important means to ensure cohesion the other argues that coherence does not rely on cohesion Yet neither has complete explanatory power over reality nor can they solve real life problems This title proposes a creative concrete and highly operational theoretical model that unites cohesion and coherence using authentic English or Chinese examples The authors clarify the concepts of coherence and expand the scope of the research by focusing on a variety of internal and external factors such as psycho cognitive and socio cultural factors Moreover the authors propose that the new theoretical paradigm can be applied to a range of other disciplines including translation and foreign language teaching This title has been one of the most cited works on cohesion and coherence in China Students and scholars of discourse analysis linguistics and language education will find this an invaluable reference Understanding Political Persuasion: Linguistic and Rhetorical Analysis Douglas Mark Ponton,2020-04-02 This book builds on the consolidated research field of Political Discourse Analysis and attempts to provide an introduction suitable for adoption amongst a readership wishing to understand some of the principles underlying such research and above all to appreciate how the tools of discourse analysis might be applied to actual texts It summarises some of the work that has been done in this field by authorities such as Halliday Fairclough Wodak Chilton Van Dijk Martin Van Leeuwen and others to provide the would be analyst with practical ideas for their own research Naturally this would not be the first time that such a handbook or introductory reference book has been proposed Fairclough himself recently produced one however his work simply entitled Political Discourse Analysis inevitably includes theoretical insights from his own research The beginning analyst can at times experience a sense of bewilderment at the mass of theoretical writing in linguistics in the search for some practical usable tools I explain a variety of such tools demonstrating their usefulness in application to the analysis of a number of political speeches from different historical periods and diverse social contexts The author s hope is that would be students of political rhetoric of whatever level and from a variety of research areas will be able to pick up this book and find tools and techniques that will assist them in actual work on texts Naturally it is also hoped that they will be inspired to follow up the suggestions for further reading which they will find in the bibliography (Mis)Representing Islam John Richardson, 2004-01-29 Mis Representing Islam explores and illustrates how lite broadsheet newspapers are implicated in the production and reproduction of anti Muslim racism The book approaches journalistic discourse as the inseparable combination of social practices discursive practices and the texts themselves from a perspective which fuses Critical Discourse Analysis CDA with Edward Said s critique of Orientalism This framework enables Richardson to re contextualise lite journalism within its professional political economic social and historic settings and present a critical and precise examination of not only the prevalence but also the form and potential effects of anti Muslim racism The book analyses the centrality of van Dijk s ideological square and the significance and utility of stereotypical topoi in representing Islam and Muslims focusing in particular on the reporting of Turkey Pakistan Iran Israel Palestine Algeria Iraq and Britain This timely book should interest researchers and students of racism Islam Journalism and Communication studies Rhetoric and Critical Discourse Analysis

Introducing Systemic Functional Linguistics Hui Yu, Chenguang Chang, Bo Wang, Yuanyi Ma, 2025-09-12 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL covering key concepts and contributions to the field and instructing beginners to apply SFL to different areas Authored by contributors with extensive experience of teaching SFL this book is composed of 14 chapters covering theories descriptions and applications of SFL It encompasses the following topics SFL theory and the organizing principles descriptions of various lexicogrammatical and semantic systems grammatical metaphor register studies different areas of SFL application including translation studies multimodal discourse analysis and educational linguistics Suitable to be used as teaching materials the chapters are carefully organized into sections of learning outcomes key terms exercises and suggested readings By introducing the theory and applications of SFL in accessible terms and requiring no prior knowledge this practical book is a key reading for students new to the area

Interaction and Grammar Elinor Ochs, Emanuel A. Schegloff, Sandra A. Thompson, 1996-12-12 This volume explores a rich variety of linkages between grammar and social interaction A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 1990-01-01 This text is an introduction to the full range of standard reference tools in all branches of English studies More than 10 000 titles are included The Reference Guide covers all the areas traditionally defined as English studies and all the field of inquiry more recently associated with English studies British and Irish American and world literatures written in English are included Other fields covered are folklore film literary theory general and comparative literature language and linguistics rhetoric and composition bibliography and textual criticism and women s studies The Socio-Cognitive Approach to Communication and Pragmatics Istvan Kecskes, 2023-12-07 The book aims to serve as a theoretical framework for the socio cognitive approach SCA that is an alternative to the two main lines of pragmatics research linguistic philosophical pragmatics and sociocultural interactional pragmatics SCA broadens the scope of the field with an intent to incorporate not only L1 communication but also intercultural communication and communication in a second language The author integrates the pragmatic view of cooperation and the cognitive view of egocentrism and emphasizes that both cooperation and egocentrism are manifested in all phases of communication albeit to varying extents SCA places equal importance on the social and cognitive individual factors in pragmatics The author claims that while social cooperation is an intention directed practice that is governed by relevance individual egocentrism is an attention oriented trait dominated by salience The book serves as a theoretical guide for researchers and students who would like to understand how we need to change first language based theories to make sense of what happens not only in L1 but also in intercultural and multi lingual interactions

A Survey of Modern English Stephan Gramley, Michael Pätzold, 2003-10-04 A comprehensive scholarly and systematic review of modern English in one volume It presents a description of both the linguistic structure of present day English and its geographical social gender and ethnic variations

Assessing Listening for Chinese English Learners Pan Zhixin, 2016-12-08 This book reports in detail the newly developed Communicative Listening Comprehension Test CLCT for the National College English Test CET of China Following the principles of communicative testing in general and test construction approach proposed by Bachman and Palmer 1996 in particular the project develops CLCT for CET 4 and CET 6 The research begins with the construction of frameworks of listening task characteristics and communicative listening ability Subsequently based on a survey of Chinese college students English listening needs and an analysis of listening tasks in influential English listening course books and public tests CLCT 4 and CLCT 6 test specifications are developed Finally sample papers are produced and a series of posteriori studies are conducted to examine the difficulty and usefulness of the newly developed notes completion task type in two CLCT tests As an example of successful integration of communicative testing theories and test construction practice this research provides valuable insights into listening test development for other large scale tests
