Export Chip Prices as a Proxy for Nonsawtimber

Prices in the Pacific Northwest Gwenlyn M. Busby, 2006 Forest land managers use price data and market analysis to form expectations and make informed management decisions There is an abundance of price data for sawtimber but for nonsawtimber the availability of price data is limited This constrains the ability of forest land managers to form reasonable price expectations for stands that contain both sawtimber and nonsawtimber In this paper I show that export chip prices are a reasonable proxy for nonsawtimber prices in the Pacific Northwest This conclusion is supported by evidence of arbitrage between the chip export market and three domestic markets in the Pacific Northwest As to the chip export market in general I observed increasing chip prices from 1968 through 1995 a structural break in 1995 after which point we observe declining prices I also found evidence of an inverse relationship between chip price and lumber production

A Year in the Fields John Burroughs, 1896 Birds and Bees, John Burroughs, 1887 Au Revoir, Israel Robert Lockwood, Jr., 2010-11-30 Mediapolitik Lee Edwards, 2001

Drawing upon his lifelong study of politics and journalism, political historian Lee Edwards offers the first scholarly examination of a powerful new phenomenon in world politics: the mass media. Edwards argues in his far-ranging and innovative work that the media have become as important a factor in determining the course of international affairs and the future of nations as economic prosperity, military strength, natural resources, and national will. The author calls this vital new component of world politics mediapolitik. He uses case studies from around the world to show how the mass media have influenced and even determined the outcome of major political acts, such as the collapse of communism in Eastern and Central Europe, the Tiananmen Square massacre in China, the ousting of Chilean dictator Augusto Pinochet, and the political resurrection of South Africa's Nelson Mandela. The author argues that these case studies show that the mass media can either enrich or enslave the human spirit, depending upon their moral foundation. If the media follow a liberal democratic model as in the United States and Western Europe, they contribute to a free and just society. If they follow an authoritarian model as in South Africa before Mandela, or a totalitarian model as in Saddam Hussein's Iraq or Fidel Castro's Cuba, they perpetuate the regime in power and deny the fruits of freedom and democracy to the people. Edwards addresses the question of how responsibly the American media, the most influential media in the world, handle their enormous power. Using the results obtained from his survey of 100 leading journalists, as well as close analysis of major news stories of the last decade, the author confirms the rampant cynicism of the American media and its deleterious effect on American politics and government. The solution he suggests is that American journalists must practice moral responsibility and strengthen the liberal democratic model of mediapolitik around the world.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR Lee Edwards is senior fellow at the Heritage Foundation and adjunct associate professor of politics at The Catholic University of America. He is senior editor of The World magazine and author or editor of numerous books, including The Collapse of Communism, The Conservative Revolution, The Power of Ideas, The Heritage Foundation at 25 Years, and Goldwater: The Man Who Made a Revolution.

PRAISE FOR THE BOOK Mediapolitik is a broad-gauged survey of what the mass media is and how it works around the world. There is scarcely an issue or debate within media and media watching circles that Mr. Edwards does not touch on and analyze with care and precision. Reading Mediapolitik is the equivalent of at least a semester's worth of J-School and more fun. Washington Times: Mediapolitik is superb, a much-needed comprehensive study of a crucial topic It is full of insight in its analysis and wisdom in its conclusions Peter W Rodman former Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs A revealing study of the mass media's impact on world politics You may not agree with all of his conclusions but Mediapolitik is well worth reading Hal Bruno former political director ABC News Edwards is a sterling advocate for more responsibility in journalism His cogent insights are always worthy of study and debate Stephen Hess The Brookings Institution author of The Little Book of Campaign Etiquette The author's case studies are valuable No one to my knowledge has presented such information and analysis in such a systematic fashion Prof Marvin Olasky Acton Institute A very plausible and reliable overview of the impact of changes in news and entertainment media on the politics of our world The Sharp Eyes and Other Papers John Burroughs, 1888 Machinery and Production Engineering, 1918

Birds and Bees Sharp Eyes and Other Papers John Burroughs, 2025-07-23 Birds and Bees Sharp Eyes and Other Papers is a delightful collection of essays by celebrated American naturalist John Burroughs offering intimate reflections on the living world around us Through keen observation and poetic prose Burroughs introduces readers to the subtle dramas of everyday nature the vulnerabilities of birds the industry of bees the cunning of squirrels and the overlooked lives of muskrats and foxes Each essay offers a gentle yet insightful window into the habits instincts and interrelationships of animals insects and plants Whether describing the tragedies of the nests savoring the scent of birch in Maine or marveling at the apple's place in American life Burroughs combines scientific curiosity with literary grace The essay Sharp Eyes invites readers to develop their own powers of perception revealing the wonders often hidden in plain sight Blending storytelling with natural history this book is a tribute to the quiet beauty and intelligence of the wild It invites readers young and old to slow down observe closely and rediscover their connection to nature In Justice David Iglesias, 2008-05-01 The Bush administration's drive to politicize the Justice Department reached a new low with the wrongful firing of seven U S Attorneys in late 2006 Their action has ignited public outrage on a scale that far surpassed the reaction to any of the Bush administration's other political debacles David Iglesias was one of those federal prosecutors and now he tells his story Iglesias has long served in the Navy as part of the JAG corps One of his earliest cases about an assaulted Marine in Guantanamo Bay became the basis for the movie A Few Good Men When Bush chose him to become the U S Attorney for New Mexico it was a dream come true He was a core member of Karl Rove's idealized Republican Party of the future handsome Hispanic evangelical and a military veteran The dream came to an abrupt end when Senator Pete Domenici improperly called Iglesias wanting him to indict high level Democrats before the 2006 elections When Iglesias refused the line went dead Iglesias was fired just weeks later First he was devastated Then he was angry Now he is speaking out Iglesias recounts his interactions with Bush Rove Alberto Gonzales and other key players as he takes readers into his time at the Justice Department to reveal what top Republican officials said and did and how they subverted justice Patents for Inventions.
