children Nikolajeva identifies a continuum of texts ranging from those that depict non linear time typical of archaic or mythical thought to those that express linearity typical of contemporary mainstream literature The author argues that literature is a deconstruction a displacement of myth and that it depicts a symbolic coming of age process rather than a strictly representational reflection of a concrete reality The texts are categorized by the degree to which the coming of age process is accomplished the movement is from an initial condition of primary harmony Arcadia Paradise Utopia through different stages toward either a successful or a failed passage From Mythic to Linear is a broad study encompassing a number of children s novels from different epochs and countries Scandinavian British American Canadian Australian South African and East European The international character contributes a better knowledge of children s literature from different parts of the world widening the horizons of children s literature research too often confined to one particular country Nikolajeva s unique approach allows her to disregard the traditional and some would argue obsolete division of children s novels into realism and fantasy With its unique approach and broad international scope From Mythic to Linear will be of interest to all those interested in children s literature and in comparative literature in general Includes bibliography and footnotes

From Soldier to Storyteller Kathleen Broome Williams, Hal M. Friedman, 2024-10-09 Many of the best known and most popular children s stories of the 20th and early 21st century were written by veterans of World War I and World War II These include works by such writers as A A Milne C S Lewis Roald Dahl Ian Fleming and J R R Tolkien among others Although they had experienced war most of the veterans did not overtly write about it The seeming paradox of warriors who went through searing combat and then wrote books for children has not been addressed collectively before now The essays in this book explore what motivated these veterans to write for children what they wrote and how their writing was influenced by the wars they lived through It examines how their combat experience can be traced in their writing however subtly whether it was stories about a bear and his piglet companion a World War I flying ace or a flying car Their reactions to war as reflected in their writing yield important lessons about the complicated legacy of the 20th century s two great conflicts and their long lasting impact through children on society at large
