 Excerpts from Rare, Curious and Diverting Books* L. Brovan, 2020-09-28 In Europe young girls who are not very virtuous and who have studied all the various forms of flirtation are most generally passed off as virgins when they marry Even when it does not really exist there are many ways by which a virginity which perhaps has been sold over and over again by expert and clever procuresses can be simulated A little time before going to the nuptial bed the girl inserts into her vagina a few drops of pigeon s blood or in some cases she selects for her wedding day the last day of menstruation A sponge skillfully placed allows the blood to flow at the moment of the catastrophe when a sudden Oh announces to the unsuspecting husband that the temple has been violated for the first time and that the veil of the sanctum sanctorum has really been rent by him Add also to these methods injections so astringent that at the required time they will give to a prostitute whose gap has been widened by a thousand customers a tightness greater than that of a real virgin The more one examines the question the more one is convinced that virginity or chastity has come to be regarded as a spiritual and moral asset only in civilised or comparatively civilised society In considering the moral quality of chastity among savages writes Havelock Ellis Studies in the Psychology of Sex vol 6 p 147 we must carefully separate that chastity which among semiprimitive peoples is exclusively imposed upon women This has no moral quality whatever for it is not exercised as a useful discipline but merely enforced in order to heighten the economic and erotic value of women Many authorities believe that the regard for women as property furnishes the true reason for the widespread insistence on virginity in brides Thus A B Ellis speaking of the West Coast of Africa Yoruha Speaking Peoples pp 183 et seq says that girls of good class are betrothed as mere children and are carefully guarded from men while girls of lower class are seldom betrothed and may lead any life they choose Virginity in woman it seems has been set on a pedestal unsupported by history science or investigation It is obviously the outcome of man's desire when he buys or acquires to obtain unsoiled goods Comes a time however when the value of these so called unsoiled goods grows questionable Something virgin in terms of common sense is not necessarily something valuable here enters the thinking and ultimately the erotic element Let a man fall to asking why he demands virginity and he will speedily begin to realise that it is the last thing he requires Virginity spells ignorance awkwardness and obstacles maturity means understanding and co operation Thus by easy stages we reach the conclusion mentioned by Havelock Ellis and quoted above that for most men whether they realise it or not the love wise woman has a greater erotic value than the virgin 14 Quoting Westermarck History of Human Marriage he goes on to refer to the fact that the seduction of an unmarried girl is chiefly if not exclusively regarded as an offence against the parents or family of the girl and there is no indication that it is ever held by savages that any wrong has been done to the woman herself

Beautiful Things Happen When a Woman Trusts God Sheila Walsh, 2010-02-15 Do you ever question God's ability to catch you when you fall Do shame fear and brokenness keep you from fully trusting God Do you secretly believe your dreams are unreachable Do you secretly believe your dreams are unreachable You are not alone This is a book about trust How we fight it How we learn to do it How it transforms us Life is not safe That reality slips over us as we grow Our response to the Father in that reality allows us either to swing higher and higher with the trust of a child or fearfully shrink back from the swing set altogether As we weigh that choice God whispers Trust me In a remarkably transparent account author and speaker Sheila Walsh opens wide her lifelong battle with trust and the moment by moment choices she made to follow where God led Sheila has lived a life ruled by the hidden places of insecurity and brokenness and knows the overwhelming beauty of a life wholly handed over to Christ As you encounter her struggles and triumphs you also meet ten of the Bible's transformed Tabitha David Paul and others who teach us that in spite of overwhelming circumstances just one trusting encounter with Christ sets beautiful things in motion It can resurrect dreams instill purpose and ignite hope Littell's Living Age, 1905

Emerald Green Tim Wenzell, 2009-12-14 Emerald Green An Ecocritical Study of Irish Literature analyzes a wide range of Irish literature whose themes tie into a reverence for the natural world of Ireland From an ecocritical perspective these works tied into an understanding of the landscape and particular aspects of nature attain a fresh new meaning and foster a more relevant reflection of Ireland's beautiful literary landscape The analysis begins with the first Irish writers the hermit poets and examines the ways in which the Irish hermit and saint were connected spiritually through both pagan and early Christian values to the natural world The book then examines Irish literature from the perspective of the deforested landscape and the landscapes of farmland divided property famine ruins and a threatening natural world Following the Famine the book moves on to explore the establishment of the pastoral dream in this loss of landscape and a re connection to nature through the writers of the Irish Literary Renaissance From there the analysis shifts to the nature writing of Ireland s islands including nature and community on Achill Island storytelling on the Aran Islands exile in nature on Skellig Michael and the mythmaking of the Great Blasket Island Moving north and into the twentieth century Emerald Green focuses on four nature poets from Northern Ireland Patrick Kavanagh Louis MacNeice Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley all four are redeemed by nature through their returns to the rural landscape of Ireland s west coast The book concludes with an examination of modern Irish environmental writers and naturalist poets as well as journalists weighing in on current environmental concerns in Ireland Emerald Green concludes with an assessment of the future of nature in Ireland and how the significant reduction of this country s natural landscape will alter its literary landscape as well Michigan Living - Motor News ,1918
