Home was Uncomfortable; School was Hell Cecilia Sem Obeng, 2002 Ghana has faced strong gender bias inside its educational institutions since gaining independence from Britain This prejudice is fuelled by the legacy of the colonial powers nurtured by Ghana's traditional anti female beliefs and made worse by various social crises and irresponsible politicians These factors combine to limit girls educational experiences keeping females in complete submission to males Many of the studies done on girls education have focused on comparing the student population of girls and boys but this book looks at the role played by societal belief systems and socio educational and economic crises impacting girls schooling The author tells about the problems Ghanaian girls face through her own memories as a child and as a teacher in Ghanaian school This book uses case studies of four girls who dropped out of school and their families and teachers to further the understanding of gender issues faced by Ghana in particular and educational systems in general

of Hope Herbert R. Kohl, 1998 It has been thirty years since Herbert Kohl taught the sixth grade Harlem class he wrote about in his classic 36 Children. He has been teaching ever since in kindergarten through graduate school as he has pursued his lifelong work with children, adolescents, college age students, and education professionals. In The Discipline of Hope, Kohl examines teaching as a vocation and as a skill, and examines his own love affair with it. He provides insight into how learning takes place in the widest range of circumstances, both in and out of a formal school setting. He demonstrates how schools and other centers of learning can be transformed so that they become places that nurture children while instilling discipline, and how they can help students meet high academic standards, develop a sense of respect for themselves and others, and grow into successful adults. Central to this book and at the core of the act of teaching, as Kohl describes it, is what he calls the discipline of hope: the stubborn refusal to accept limits on what students can learn or what teachers can do by helping them discover the power of their minds. At a time when so many are complacent or skeptical about the possibilities of education, this book, with the experiences it describes of teacher and taught, is an affirmation that provides guideposts, insight, and wisdom.
