Writing-Across-the-Curriculum and the Academic Library Jean Sheridan,1995-12-11 Writing Across the Curriculum is a popular and effective means of teaching writing to undergraduates and preparing them to write in specific academic disciplines It assumes that the ultimate responsibility for teaching this writing resides with faculty in the disciplines This professional reference provides practical information to librarians who wish to know more about Writing Across the Curriculum and to instructors in writing intensive courses who wish to know more about using library resources The first part of the book defines Writing Across the Curriculum and places the movement within the larger context of composition theory In the second part the research process and process writing are described and compared and specific assignments are suggested Included is a chapter presenting a model for a writing intensive course taught by a librarian The third part advises instructors on how to use the library effectively in teaching and advises librarians on how to reform library instruction The fourth part contains case studies of effective collaborations between librarians instructors and writing programs

Re-Imagining Writing: Interdisciplinary Perspectives Phil Fitzsimmons,Johanna Pentikäinen,2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2014 Across the globe the nature of writing in the twentifirst century is coming under increasing scrutiny as technology becomes an ever increasing component of everyday life and as measuring human output also takes hold in many disciplines This book offers an alternative to these twin developments providing instead many alternatives Coming from an international set of authors with different world views paradigms and praxes the common theme of writing is explored with deep enthusiasm interest in productivity and human capacity and that leads to a polyphonic and progressive inquiry to the subject matter Each author s initial contribution suggest that writing as an object of study needs reimagining be it connected to learning knowledge creation or artistic expression Writing is a deeply person centred process and its open transformative and multidimensional nature escaped definitions but can be understood through the metaphor of the gift Teaching Content Reading and Writing Martha Rapp Ruddell,2012-10-16 The text highlights issues of comprehension vocabulary development assessment and second language In addition it addresses issues of diversity and ELL students approaches for sheltered instruction and the integration of technology into secondary learning and teaching as well as lifelong reading writing using literature in content learning and teacher professional development

The Flourishing Spirit: Conversational Insights from Emerging Authors and Thinkers Pasquale De Marco,2025-04-25 In The Flourishing Spirit Conversational Insights from Emerging Authors and Thinkers we embark on a captivating exploration of the literary world delving into the minds and hearts of emerging authors and thinkers Through their words we uncover the essence of storytelling the craft of writing and the ever evolving landscape of literature Within these pages we encounter a diverse array of voices each with a unique perspective and style We witness the power of vulnerability as writers share their personal narratives inviting us to connect with the emotions and experiences that shape their stories We venture into the realm of poetry where words dance and sing painting vivid images and evoking profound emotions We also explore the art of self publishing empowering authors to take control of their creative journey and share their works with the world As we navigate the literary landscape we discover the challenges and triumphs that writers face on their creative paths We learn strategies for overcoming writer s block maintaining motivation and balancing the demands of writing with the complexities of everyday life We celebrate the rewards of writing from the satisfaction of completing a manuscript to the joy of connecting with readers and fellow authors Beyond the creative process we delve into the business side of writing exploring copyright and intellectual property contracts and negotiations and the financial aspects of authorship We discuss the importance of marketing and promotion as well as the art of building a dedicated readership We also examine the power of social media and online platforms in connecting writers with readers and expanding their reach Throughout our journey we explore the legacy of writing the role of literary criticism and the ways in which authors can contribute to their communities and leave a lasting mark on the world We celebrate the enduring power of the written word and its transformative impact on our lives As we turn the final page we are left with a renewed appreciation for the art of storytelling and the boundless possibilities that lie within the realm of literature
