Handbook of Theories of Aging Merrill Silverstein, Vern L. Bengtson, Vern L. Bengtson, PhD, Norella Putney, Daphna Gans, 2008-10-27 The field of gerontology has often been criticized for being data rich but theory poor The editors of this book address this issue by stressing the importance of theory in gerontology While the previous edition focused on multidisciplinary approaches to aging theory this new edition provides cross disciplinary integrative explanations of aging theory The contributors of this text have reached beyond traditional disciplinary boundaries to partner with researchers in adjacent fields in studying aging and age related phenomena This edition of the Handbook consists of 39 chapters written by 67 internationally recognized experts in the field of aging It is organized in seven sections reflecting the major theoretical developments in gerontology over the past 10 years Special Features Comprehensive coverage of aging theory focusing on the biological psychological and social aspects of aging A section dedicated to discussing how aging theory informs public policy A concluding chapter summarizing the major themes of aging and offering predictions about the future of theory development Required reading for graduate students and post doctoral fellows this textbook represents the current status of theoretical development in the study of aging

Transitions and the Lifecourse Amanda Grenier,2012-01-31 Transitions and the life course Challenging the constructions of growing old explores and challenges dominant interpretations of transitions as they relate to ageing and the life course It takes a unique perspective that draws together ideas about late life as expressed in social policy and socio cultural constructs of age with lived experience The book is aimed at academics and students interested in social gerontology policy studies in health and social care and older people s accounts of experience Robert N. Butler, MD W. Andrew Achenbaum,2013-08-13 Robert Neil Butler 1927 2010 was a scholar psychiatrist and Pulitzer Prize winning author who revolutionized the way the world thinks about aging and the elderly One of the first psychiatrists to engage with older men and women outside of institutional settings Butler coined the term ageism to draw attention to discrimination against older adults and spent a lifetime working to improve their status medical treatment and care Early in his career Butler seized on the positive features of late life development aspects he documented in his pathbreaking research on healthy aging at the National Institutes of Health and in private practice He set the nation s age based health care agenda and research priorities as founding director of the National Institute on Aging and by creating the first interprofessional interdisciplinary department of geriatrics at New York City s Mount Sinai Hospital In the final two decades of his career Butler created a global alliance of scientists educators practitioners politicians journalists and advocates through the International Longevity Center A scholar who knew Butler personally and professionally W Andrew Achenbaum follows this pioneer s significant contributions to the concept of healthy aging and the notion that aging is not synonymous with physical and mental decline Emphasizing the progressive aspects of Butler s approach and insight Achenbaum affirms the ongoing relevance of his work to gerontology geriatrics medicine social work and related fields The Evening of Life Joseph E. Davis,Paul Scherz,2020-09-30 Although philosophy religion and civic cultures used to help people prepare for aging and dying well this is no longer the case Today aging is frequently seen as a problem to be solved and death as a harsh reality to be masked In part our cultural confusion is rooted in an inadequate conception of the human person which is based on a notion of absolute individual autonomy that cannot but fail in the face of the dependency that comes with aging and decline at the end of life To help correct the ethical impoverishment at the root of our contemporary social confusion The Evening of Life provides an interdisciplinary examination of the challenges of aging and dying well It calls for a re envisioning of cultural concepts practices and virtues that embraces decline dependency and finitude rather than stigmatizes them Bringing together the work of sociologists anthropologists philosophers theologians and medical practitioners this collection of essays develops an interrelated set of conceptual tools to discuss the current challenges posed to aging and dying well such as flourishing temporality narrative and friendship Above all it proposes a positive understanding of thriving in old age that is rooted in our shared vulnerability as human beings It also suggests how some of these tools and concepts can be deployed to create a medical system that better responds to our contemporary needs The Evening of Life will interest bioethicists medical practitioners clinicians and others involved in the care of the aging and dying Contributors Joseph E Davis Sharon R Kaufman Paul Scherz Wilfred M McClay Kevin Aho Charles Guignon Bryan S Turner Janelle S Taylor Sarah L Szanton Janiece Taylor and Justin Mutter
