The Image in Early Cinema Scott Curtis, Philippe Gauthier, Tom Gunning, Joshua Yumibe, 2018-03-22. In The Image in Early Cinema the contributors examine intersections between early cinematic form, technology, theory, practice and broader modes of visual culture. They argue that early cinema emerged within a visual culture composed of a variety of traditions in art, science, education and image making. Even as methods of motion picture production and distribution materialized, they drew from and challenged practices and conventions in other mediums. This rich visual culture produced a complicated overlapping network of image making traditions, innovations and borrowing among painting, tableaux vivants, photography and other pictorial and projection practices. Using a variety of concepts and theories, the contributors explore these crisscrossing traditions and work against an essentialist notion of media to conceptualize the dynamic interrelationship between images and their context.

Fighting with French : A Tale of the New Army Herbert Strang. Fighting with French. A Tale of the New Army. At six o'clock next morning, sergeant majors and corporals went round the hall stirring up the sleepers. There were groans and grumbles, but the men turned out and there was a general dash for the washing basins, one among twenty men and a free fight for the razors. Our two friends had brought their own safeties and pocket mirrors, and when they had finished operating upon their downy cheeks, there was a competition among their new messmates for the loan of those indispensable articles. "Your bristles will ruin a blade in no time," Ginger said to Harry as he handed over the razor somewhat ruefully. "Perseverance that's all you want," replied Ginger through the lather. "Yours'll be as hard as mine in time." At half past six each man seized a mug and rushed off to the cook house across the yard for cocoa. They sat about the hall swilling the morning beverage, grumbling at the blankets, asking one another who'd be a soldier, then they rubbed up their boots and made their beds and were ready for the seven o'clock parade. Dressed only in their shirts and slacks, they formed up in the drill hall. There was a good deal of disorder, and the N.C.O.s in early morning temper roared above the din. It happened that Dick Kennedy was orderly officer for the week. When the men were at last ranged in ranks, dressed and numbered by the sergeants, he posted himself in front and with a nervous twitching of the lips said gently, "Battalion, shun. Louder, louder, whispered a fellow officer who had come up behind him. This isn't a mother's meeting. The second lieutenant tried again, "Battalion, shun. Advance in fours from the right. Form fours. Some of the men knew what to do, but many of the new recruits looked about them blankly. "You don't know the movements," said the lieutenant. Well, when I say form fours even numbers take one pace to the left with the left foot and one pace to the right with the right Now form fours The result was disorder jostling in the ranks cries of Who re you a shoving of Sorry My mistake said Kennedy with a smile We ll try again I should have said one pace to the rear with the left foot Now then form fours His cheerfulness won the men s sympathy and the order being now correctly carried out one or two of them cheered Silence in the ranks roared Kennedy Right Quick march and the battalion marched off The day s work began with a run for three quarters of an hour to the bank of a river some two miles away A run so called for it consisted of slow and quick march and doubling in turn At eight o clock they were back in the hall for breakfast tea bread and bacon sausage or cheese The provisions were good the men had healthy appetites and at 9 15 when the battalion orders of the day were read they were contented and cheerful Index Catalogue of the Hutchesontown District Library Glasgow (Scotland).
