Fire Inside:

The Fire Inside Steve Delsohn, 2010-10-26 In the tradition of Mark Baker's Cops more than 100 top firefighters describe the highs and lows of the world's most dangerous profession Fascinating and packed with emotion The Fire Inside is a unique look at the unseen world of firefighters who risk their lives for strangers every day In their own words these male and female heroes vividly describe how they cope with scorching flame injuries earthquakes hazardous waste and wildfire and the rewards that keep them climbing back on the fire truck

Fire in Tropical Savannas Alan N. Andersen, Garry D. Cook, Richard J. Williams, 2003-06-24 The ten year research program and the Kapalga fire experiment at CSIRO in Australia has provided a wealth of knowledge about savanna ecosystems and the critical but poorly understood role of fire The frequent low intensity fires examined in this volume characterize fire in the tropics and are a dominant force in shaping the structure and function of tropical ecosystems Contributors discuss fire in relation to rainfall groundwater and the mammals and plants in the ecology and management of ecosystems Among the management issues addressed are habitat management endangered species protection of people and property erosion and nutrient depletion integration of knowledge from indigenous people and western science and atmospheric pollution from fire smoke This book will be valuable to tropical and savanna ecologists fire ecologists and fire managers throughout the world whether they are interested in plants animals soils or in the landscape as a whole

Fire in Ecosystems of Boreal Eurasia Johann Georg Goldammer, Valentin Furyaev, 1996-07-31 One of the first priority areas among joint East West research programs is the rational use of natural resources and sustainable development of regions In the boreal zone of North America and Eurasia forests are economically very important and at the same time highly vulnerable to disturbances Because of its size and ecological functions the boreal forest zone and its most dynamic disturbance factor fire play an important role in ecosystem processes on global scale Interest within the global change research community in Northern Eurasia Fennoscandia European Russia Siberia and the Far East of Russia has grown dramatically in the last few years It is a vast area about which very little is known It is a region where temperature rise due to anthropogenic climate forcing is predicted to be the greatest and where the consequent feedbacks to the atmosphere are potentially large In addition it is poised to undergo rapid economic development which may lead to large and significant changes to its land cover Much of this interest in Northern Eurasia as in the high latitude regions in general is centered on its role in the global carbon cycle which is likely to be significantly affected under global change New research initiatives between Western and Eastern countries have been designed to address a series of phenomena problems and management solutions
